A little about us...

Maison Albion is a historic mansion reimagined to host magnificent weddings and events. Located in Albion, New York, our guests are transported to a time of luxurious craftsmanship, baroque decadence, and lavish celebrations.

The 1878 mansion features a breathtaking ballroom and parklike grounds reminiscent of a late 19th century French estate. Close to Buffalo, Rochester, Toronto, and New York City, but located in the quaintest town of Albion, New York, you will find the most magical wedding and event venue.

The English Country gardens welcome guests to stroll and lounge on the manicured lawn. You can enjoy a picnic in the Great Lawn, indulge with a romantic dinner in the Secret Garden, and even cozy up with your beloved in the handcrafted rowboat floating gently in the pond. Guests also have the option to stay overnight in our four exquisitely decorated guest bedrooms with access to amazing restaurants, hotels and businesses within minutes of Maison Albion.

Bienvenue...

The Carr family built the home, formerly known as “The White Pillars” and used the farm land for dairy cows. The home was an Italianate style home, with the pillars being added in 1914. In 1944 Myrtie Carr unexpectedly passed away. As a widower, William met his second wife Patricia. Patricia moved to New York City at the age of 16 and was a showgirl for years. She then moved to Orleans County with William, and they married.

She learned to be a farmer’s wife and kept a journal of her experiences at the home. Survived by her step-grandchild Nicki Carr Tiffany, the book The Long-Legged View was published. Within the novel, Patricia mentions a photo of a purple peacock on the wall and during Kerri and Cole’s restoration of the home, a purple peacock was added to the wall as in homage to the memoir. After the death of William Carr, the home was turned into apartments, throughout the 1960’s and onward.

In 2010 Scott Root and Tony McMurtie purchased the home and began restoring it into its original figure, as the space had been completely abandoned. The ballroom was added in 2010, and it was inspired by The Titanic.

Past and Present

The Glovers purchased “The Pillars” in July 2020, and began her restoration and development into a wedding and event venue. Every surface was plastered, painted, and touched by loving hands. Custom 11’ bookcases were added to the gentlemen’s lounge, gold silk wallpaper to the dining room, and antiques from the Waldorf Astoria Auction in New York.

Although there are many before and after photos of the grounds and mansion during the restoration period, it was important to Glovers that the history of the property was honored. Details like Victorian push button light switches were added and original chandeliers were rewired in order to bring the original beauty back to Maison. Even the famous pillars on the porch were replaced, and using historical photographs, the original style of the mansion was restored.

Our Pillars

Looking toward the future, we have constructed the "Pillars of Maison" as our vows to you !

Love

We believe that everyone has the right to love who they want and to celebrate it too! At Maison Albion, we believe inclusion is the only way. Our doors will always be open to every couple and family for every type of celebration.

Freedom

At Maison Albion, we believe in the freedom to design your event the way you imagine. You are welcome to choose your vendors and your event design. We encourage you to use our venue as if it were your own Maison. We do not charge fees to vendors who work at our property and we do not accept commissions from vendors.

Magic

We believe that magic is found in the little things. Fresh local weekly flower deliveries, antique love letters hidden in our drawers, lavender sachets and French chocolates for turn down service. Magic is made with memories, quiet moments, and beauty that can be created and found here at Maison Albion. We love our clients, and our clients love us.

Preserving the Past

Restoration, not renovation, is our philosophy for caring for our grande dame. Listening to her past and translating it into a restoration to preserve her for the future is our mission. We are merely the caretakers of these gorgeous grounds, preserving it for future generations to enjoy. The same care we give the mansion, we give to our guests. We want you to treat Maison Albion like your home - it is designed with antiques and our design is cozy, approachable and grand.

Creating a better future

Taking care of this beautiful earth and offsetting the footprint of events is a passion at Maison Albion. Our complex composting system feeds our landscape and we have an advanced recycling program on site. We use Blueland products with no parabens, PBNs or dyes in our laundry and hand soap on the property. We do not allow single use plastics on site. By 2025, Maison Albion will be heated and cooled by geothermal systems and 100% solar for power. It is our small way to take care of our lovely planet.
