Nice to meet you

I'm Lindsay.

I'm a girl mom, wife to the most supportive and hardworking husband, gym junkie, lover of ice cream, caffeine, and all things summer.

Like most photographers, this started as a hobby and quickly grew into one of my greatest journeys. I have met and worked with the most amazing couples and watched them grow into the sweetest families- of course, documenting it all along the way. I love to serve my couples on their wedding day, capturing their very best moments to cherish forever.

I promise to always be more than just a wedding photographer. My goal is to show up on your wedding day and feel like a friend (because when your walls can come down, that's when the most beautiful pictures happen, and to do that, we need a great connection.) While my goal is to capture all your love, joy, laughter and emotion on your wedding day in the most authentic way possible, I also want to ensure your entire experience is FUN!
